CEO MESSAGE

The cornerstone to any lasting structure begins with a strong foundation. The tallest skyscraper in North America, One World Trade Center in New York City, has a foundation that extends down 110 feet below the surface. Even ancient structures still standing today have foundations that have preserved them through the ages. A strong foundation allows storms and forces to come upon the building without crushing it. Without one, a structure can fall as soon as a storm hits.

We all have a foundation in our Gano Excel business. We call it our “why.” This reason is what motivates us to keep going despite any challenge or obstacle that may come our way. For some this may be family. For others it may be freedom. For yet others, it may be a higher calling. Whatever your mission, stick to it through every storm. Our founder and president, Mr. Leow Soon Seng, has continued with his mission to help others by spreading health and wealth for 25 years now. Gano Excel’s healthy and valuable Ganoderma-enriched products are the way he has committed to enacting his “why,” and he will continue to embrace this “why” through each new challenge that we face.

Acting from a place of purpose may require you to learn new techniques or use new tools, but it will keep you going and allow your business to meet your needs. You may in one season need to learn the art of speaking in front of a crowd, and in another season, learn to use teleconferencing tools. Though these specific skills may change, the simplicity of a Gano Excel business allows everyday people like you to accomplish more for your “why” than you ever have before.

Like the foundation of a strong tower, your “why” keeps you secure. Gano Excel is here to support you. We are fulfilling our “why” by providing you with healthy, great-tasting products and an opportunity to earn income while sharing these powerful products with others.

Sincerely,

Mr. Ooi Chin Aik,
Chief Executive Officer, Gano Excel | North America

CINDY MI TURNS VIRTUAL LEARNING INTO OPPORTUNITY

Using passion to build something great is what great entrepreneurs have done for centuries. In the 1980s, Mr. Leow Soon Seng discovered the power of Ganoderma lucidum. He used his passion for this health-boosting herb to cultivate a product that he could bring to the rest of the world. In 1995, Mr. Leow founded Gano Excel as a way to make his dream come true. Later, he would develop GanoCafé as a way to bring Ganoderma-enriched coffee and other products to homes around the globe.

For Cindy Mi, a passion for personalized education was born out of falling behind in high school. She offered empathy to her teacher due to the large class size which didn't allow her to get the special help she needed to catch up with her studies. In 2000, at the age of 17, Mi dropped out of school to found ABCEnglish, a brick-and-mortar English education company, with her uncle. Such companies had become popular in China with families spending an average of 15% of household income on supplementing education for its children. Mi and her uncle grew ABCEnglish to $30 million in annual sales, but like many entrepreneurs, she realized her dream was bigger than just running a local company. She began to dream about how she could have a global impact with education.

In 2013, Cindy Mi founded VIPKid, an education company that functioned entirely online and connected Chinese students with fluent English-speaking teachers in the United States and Canada, where the curriculum VIPKid uses is based. The teachers and students hold virtual tutoring lessons that offer personalized 1:1 attention and last 25 minutes. The students are taught English through an immersive curriculum that covers a variety of topics. Virtual and augmented reality are utilized as a part of lessons in math, history and science. As of March 2015, the company had only 20 teachers and 200 students. Today, VIPKid has become the world's largest K-12 English-language online educator with over 500,000 students and 65,000 teachers.

Mi estimates there are nearly 300 million young people in China. However, she estimates only 27,000 qualified English teachers from North America come to China to teach the language. As a result, she saw an opportunity to connect students from the comfort of their home to teachers in the comfort of theirs. Not only did Mi see this opportunity as a benefit to the student, but as a way for teachers, stay-at-home parents and retirees in North America to earn additional income on a flexible schedule. Recruitment and training of new teachers happens entirely online, as well as customer referrals via social media.

All of this is part of a great mission in Mi's eyes. In a recent interview, Mi offered some insight into the bigger picture. "It's about knowing the world and empathizing with other cultures," she said. Her goal is to use a global classroom in order to create "global citizens" who understand that way the world is interconnected and have a heightened understanding across cultures. "What if we have kids everywhere being ambassadors of their own cultures, learn about other cultures and become ambassadors for other cultures?"

This idea of global understanding is already showing up in VIPKid's community of teachers who have independently organized celebrations tied to Chinese culture such as the Lunar New Year. "This is a connection between students and teachers that's never happened before in human history," Mi said. It is this people-to-people connection that is the center of Mi's "why" and has driven VIPKid to such success over the last several years.

In case you need more evidence that pursuing your passion can also be a lucrative endeavor, VIPKid is a shining example. In 2017, revenue topped $760 million and in 2018, VIPKid received a valuation of over $3 billion. The company also received accolades by its teacher community. VIPKid has been named by Glassdoor as one of the Best Places to Work in 2020, its second year on the list. As we can see from Cindy Mi, it all starts with embracing your "why" and saying "yes" to opportunity. As you advance your own Gano Excel business out of your passion for spreading health and wealth, you will find them spread to your own life and lifestyle. Never give up on your dreams.

SET A WINNING SOCIAL MEDIA STRATEGY

Now is an excellent time to explore what sharing, using social media, looks like for your business. Taking smart steps to growing your business online, however, may be somewhat new territory for you. You may be new to social media marketing, or you may be an expert. No matter your experience level, it is helpful to set a strategy for your activity. These 4 steps will help you track and analyze what works best for you.

1. Set Social Media Goals

Just like you do with the rest of your Gano Excel business, you want to set goals with how you use social media. An acronym to remember is the keep goals SMART: Specific, Measurable, Achievable, Relevant and Time-based.

Talk over your goals with your Upline and leaders for some feedback if you are unsure what an achievable goal for you can be. Each Affiliate has unique skills and talents and this could look different for everyone.

2. Think About Prospects

As with your face-to-face prospecting, take some time to think about how and where to reach people who need to hear about your Ganoderma lucidum products and the Gano Excel opportunity. Put some thought into the people you are trying to reach, as well as where and how they spend time when on social media.

Don't know who your prospects are? Certain apps like NextDoor focus on neighbors in your community, while others like Facebook, allow you to reach people all around the world. Your personal network is a good place to start, and you can also join community groups that share some of the common traits you wrote down.

3. Shape Your Social Media Strategy

Connect the dots between what you want to achieve and what you know about your prospects and customers online. If there is a platform you are comfortable with and your customers use often, such as Instagram, then it makes sense to allocate most of your time to that platform.

Depending on the channels you've chosen, the types of social media content you use could include images, videos, interviews and articles. Whatever you choose, make sure you are equipped to create high quality content that will engage your prospects and customers. Play to your strengths. Are you good on camera, or better at writing short pieces of advice?

You also want to find the perfect balance between posting too often and not enough. Over time, you will be able to see when people are most likely to like, comment, and share your content and you can plan accordingly.

4. Track Your Progress

Once you've determined the types of social media content you'll be sharing, the time you'll be posting, and your posting frequency, you can create a social media content calendar.

Take this information and start a journal to keep track of your progress. As you implement your strategy, take note of what works and what doesn't work. This will help you adjust your strategy as needed and continue creating great content for your prospects and customers.

“There is no greater gift you can give or receive than to honor your calling. It's why you were born. And how you become most truly alive.” – Oprah Winfrey

STRAWBERRY ROOIBOS ICE CREAM

What can relieve stress better than a scoop of Rooibos Tea ice cream mixed with delicious fresh strawberries? Now you can make this tasty ice cream at home without needing a fancy machine. Roast the strawberries until soft and blend with Ganoderma-enriched Rooibos tea to create a scrumptious ice cream flavor that also delivers powerful nutrients to your body.

Ingredients:

- 2 lb strawberries, hulled and halved
- 1 Tbsp white sugar
- 1 sachet GanoCafé Rooibos Tea, contents removed from teabag and ground to powder
- 1 tsp vanilla extract
- 1 can sweetened condensed milk (13 oz)
- 2 cups heavy whipping cream, cold

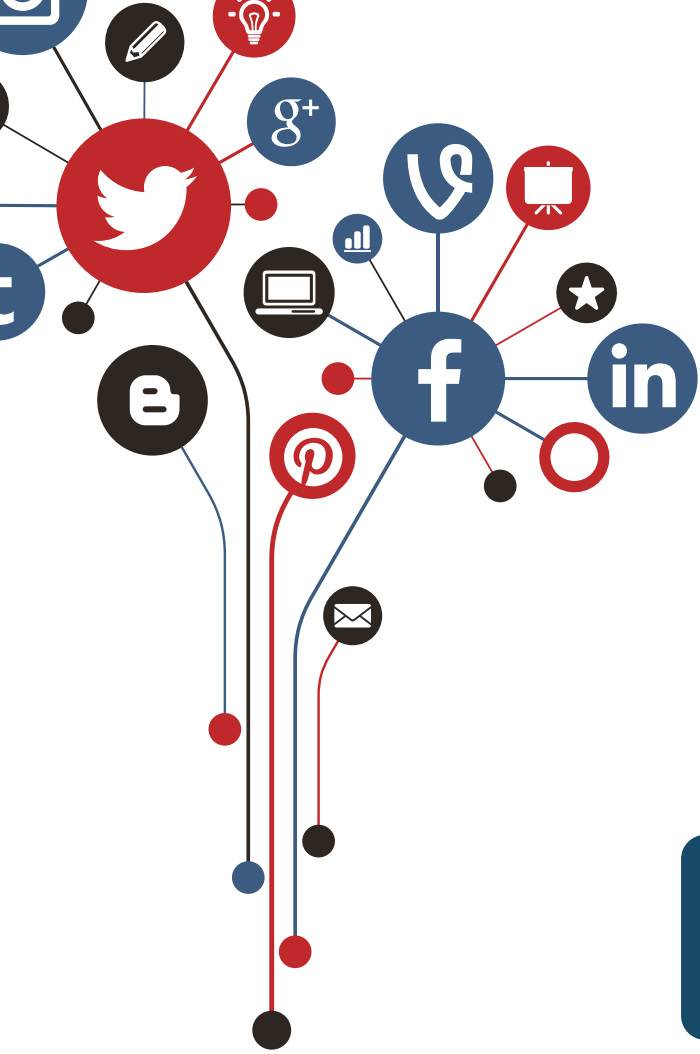

Directions:

1. Preheat oven to 285° F. Toss strawberries with sugar and spread onto a baking sheet.
2. Place baking sheet in oven on the center rack. Roast 45 minutes, rotating the baking sheet halfway. Remove and toss strawberries and return to oven for about 15 minutes. Watch carefully throughout baking.
3. Remove from oven. Use a spatula to scrape strawberries and juices into a food processor and add GanoCafé Rooibos tea powder. Blend until smooth and set aside in a large bowl to cool completely.
4. Add condensed milk and vanilla into strawberry mixture. Use a hand mixer to beat on high for 1-2 minutes until fully combined. Clean hand mixer before whipping the cream.
5. In a separate bowl, whip the heavy cream with your hand mixer on high until stiff peaks form. One dollop at a time, slowly and gently fold in whipped cream into strawberry mixture. Do not overmix.
6. Pour mixture into a glass container with an airtight lid. Smooth out the top and lay a piece of wax or parchment paper on the surface to prevent icicles from forming. Cover with lid and freeze overnight. Remove paper when ready to serve!

NUTRITIONAL FACT:

Strawberries are an excellent source of vitamin C, an antioxidant necessary for immune and skin health. Ganoderma lucidum also provides 150 antioxidants to help your body do its best.

JAMES WIGGINS

CORONA, CA

James Wiggins is a big believer in Gano Excel. Now a Gold, he loves everything the company stands for and the amazing Ganoderma-enriched products the company makes. He has been familiar with the Ganoderma products for years and knows thousands of people who have used the products and seen benefits to their health, including himself. The efficacy of the product and a company that is now celebrating 25 years of being in business are two compelling reasons why James returned to Gano Excel. What sealed the deal for James is the strong leadership, starting with Mr. Leow Soon Seng and especially the local leadership of Director of Field Relations Robert Paz. “Mr. Paz shows a strong understanding of the English market and everything we need for continued growth,” said James. He applauds the company’s support from training resources to incentives like the current Let’s GO! Promotion.

Over the years, James has had a chance to achieve many of the dreams he had in his youth. When he started with LA Fitness in the 1990s, he had an opportunity to learn from CEO Louis Welch. “I remember when Louis told me, ‘It’s not your fault if you were born poor, but it is your fault if you die poor,’” James recalled. His eyes were opened to the responsibility of owning your situation and acting on the right opportunities in order to achieve what you want in life.

“No one else is going to do it for me. It is up to me,” said James. Since then, James says that he has had success in business and Gano Excel is a great company for making additional income. However, his purpose and primary motivation has shifted from being about money to being about family and helping others win.

To James, the best part of being his own boss is the time he gets to spend with his children each day. “Owning your time is way more valuable than the paycheck you earn,” James said. He loves attending basketball games and spending time with his kids after school. His long-term goal is to leave a legacy for his children that will leave them debt-free at the end of his life. “I want them to have as much freedom as possible, and that has become my ‘why’ for all of the work I do now with Gano Excel.”

He also loves being a mentor to others. James has grown a strong team across multiple markets thanks to taking his Gano Excel business primarily online. “I have an amazing group of people and we started on the Internet,” James said. “We understand that people want to work from home, and we are so thankful that in this day and age we can accomplish that with technology.” He uses social media and teleconferencing to encourage and train his team as well as develop new leads for his business. His training primarily focuses on business development. “Being in business means having the mind of a business owner. If you don’t have that mindset, you don’t have a business.” He trains regularly and has found a special meaning from helping others in such a tangible way.

He looks forward to coaching his team this year and helping at least four reach the rank of Platinum. He believes helping his team will also help him to reach the rank of Diamond before the end of the year. “The opportunity is there. We must stay focused, stay coachable and work,” he said. “You can win with Gano Excel.”

LIVING UP TO OUR FULL POTENTIAL

We congratulate all those who advance in rank this month! It takes hard work to achieve such a substantial change. Thankfully Gano Excel Affiliates don't have to do it alone. It gives us great pleasure to see you strive and reach new ranks. Let's take a look at some of our newest achievers... and remember, you are all very valuable to us at Gano Excel. How lucky to be surrounded by people and a company that helps you reach your goals!
