Camino Al Diamante: A Lifechanging Morning of Truth and Triumph

Held as a private, invitation-only event, Camino Al Diamante became one of the most emotional and powerful gatherings of the weekend. Diamonds opened their hearts, sharing deeply personal stories of hardship, sacrifice, and victory—many leaders were brought to tears. The atmosphere was raw, real, and unforgettable. Then, in a moment no one expected, Mr. Leow arrived, lighting up the room with excitement as he shared incredible news about Gano Excel's future. This was more than an event—it was a breakthrough experience that left every leader forever changed.

Sandra Estrada Morales - Premier Diamond | CA

For over 15 years, Sandra Estrada Morales has been a dedicated leader of Gano Excel. Her journey began with a simple cup of coffee at a seminar, sparking a lifelong commitment to the brand. What started as a casual interest soon transformed into a life-changing opportunity, thanks to the support of her uplines, Royal Diamonds Ruben and Maggie Cardenas.

Reaching Premier Diamond is no small feat, and for Sandra, her biggest motivation has always been her family. As a dedicated mother, she balances her personal responsibilities with her commitment to Gano Excel. One of her greatest challenges has been ensuring she remains present for her son, who requires extra time and care. She has mastered the art of time management, proving that with dedication and perseverance, it is possible to build a thriving business while prioritizing family. "It's been challenging, but it's doable," she shares.

Sandra is also grateful for the support of her mother-in-law, Sara, who has played a key role in helping her business grow.

Like many entrepreneurs, Sandra has faced obstacles, but she has never let them deter her. Her advice to aspiring Affiliates is simple yet powerful: "Don't give up. Keep going. Hard work pays off." She emphasizes the importance of discipline and consistency. "It's your business, and you have to make time for it." No matter how busy life gets, she believes that carving out time for growth and persistence will always lead to results.

Sandra's success extends to those she works alongside. She takes pride in helping her downline grow, knowing that success is a collective effort. "We help each other," she says. "Seeing others rank up and succeed is incredibly rewarding." Witnessing her team members thrive brings her immense joy and validation for the work she does every day.

Now, as a Premier Diamond, Sandra remains focused on maintaining her success while uplifting others. She once viewed this rank as unattainable, but today, she proves that with dedication, anything is possible. Through faith and perseverance, she stands as an inspiration to the entire Gano Excel family, proving that success is within reach for those who believe and commit.

Maria Soledad Morales - Diamond | CA

For this new Diamond, achieving this rank is a dream she never thought possible. Growing up in a small, isolated ranch in Mexico, she often felt different from the other children and struggled with self-confidence. She learned early on to keep to herself, believing she had to hide from the world. At just 16, she married her husband, and together they built a new life in the United States, working tirelessly to provide a better future for their family. They arrived with nothing but determination, taking on any job necessary to survive. She worked in the fields and later spent 17 years at a movie theater, always pushing forward for her children's sake.

Their journey took a life-changing turn when her husband was diagnosed with cancer. Facing uncertainty, they were introduced to Gano Excel. Skeptical at first, they decided to try the products, and to their amazement, his health improved. Later, when she developed rheumatoid arthritis and gout, she turned to

Gano Excel's products and experienced incredible results. Their personal testimonies became the foundation of their business, as they began sharing the products with friends, family, and their church community. "At first, we weren't even thinking about making money—we just wanted to help people."

What started as small product recommendations quickly grew into a full-fledged business. Demand increased, and she realized selling a few boxes a day could surpass her daily wages. The biggest surprise, however, was the sense of belonging she found. "In Gano Excel, I found a community that welcomed me without judgment."

Now, as a Diamond, she is focused on lifting others, mentoring her team to reach new ranks and develop a lasting passion for the business. Inspired by the leaders ahead of her, she is determined to push forward. "This is just the beginning—there's so much more to achieve."

EMERGING LEADERS

Marvin & Iris Colindres - Platinum | CA

Iris and Marvin's journey to Platinum is a testament to teamwork, consistency, and a shared mission of bringing health and prosperity to others. They believe deeply in Gano Excel's products and vision, seeing their work as an opportunity to transform lives. "We know the product works, and that's why we are committed to Mr. Leow's mission," Iris shares. Their success was built on mutual support—Marvin recalls noticing his wife's numbers approaching the rank and immediately began strategizing to help Iris reach it. By helping her, he also reached Platinum! "When you work to help others reach their dreams, you also benefit," he explains. As they supported their team, they naturally advanced together, proving that teamwork truly drives success.

Beyond growing their business, they see events as the heartbeat of Gano Excel. For Iris, every opportunity to contribute is an act of love—whether serving, organizing, or adding special details that enhance the experience. "If you have a talent, you can't hold back—you have to be part of making the event a success," she says. Marvin views events as a reflection of the company's image, ensuring that every attendee, especially newcomers, feels the warmth and unity of the Gano Excel family. "Events are where people first experience Gano Excel. We want them to feel inspired and welcomed," he explains. Their involvement, from being MCs to designing event décor, strengthens the community and leaves a lasting impact.

Now as Platinum leaders, they are focused on lifting others. "When you grow, your team follows," Iris says. They are committed to mentoring new leaders and inspiring them to reach new ranks. "We are just getting started," Marvin adds. "There's so much to do, so much to give, and that motivates us every day." For Iris and Marvin, success is not just about reaching new heights—it's about bringing others along with them, building a legacy of growth, unity, and transformation within the Gano Excel family.

EMERGING LEADERS

Araceli Corona - Platinum | CA

For Araceli Corona, reaching Platinum is more than just a rank—it's a reflection of resilience, service, and the belief that success is built by lifting others. Her journey with Gano Excel began as a way to restore her health, but it soon became her mission to help others do the same.

Growing up, Araceli understood struggle. She wasn't handed success—she fought for it. That same determination has shaped her approach to leadership. "For me to win, I have to help you win first." She lives by this principle, knowing that by helping her team grow, she grows too. Hosting coffee breaks, prospecting new Affiliates, and building a strong team have been the keys to her success.

One of her most powerful experiences was attending an event where Gano Excel's Founder, Mr. Leow, was present. The energy and motivation in the room reaffirmed everything she had worked for. "We grow from event to event," she says, recognizing how these moments fuel the company's mission.

Her advice to others is clear: Dreams are non-negotiable. She knows firsthand what it means to fight for something that once seemed impossible. "You don't have to be the smartest, but you do have to be disciplined." That discipline has carried her this far, and it will take her to Crown Diamond.

But more than titles or rewards, what drives her is the people. Nothing means more to her than hearing, "Thank you, this helped me," or "I just received my first check." For Araceli, success is about service, and with the unwavering support of her Gano Excel family, she knows—her journey is only just beginning.

Claudia Ortiz - Platinum | CA

Claudia Ortiz never imagined herself as a leader, but reaching Platinum proved that she was capable of more than she ever thought possible. As a stay-at-home mom, she wanted to set an example for her children, showing them that success comes from persistence and belief in oneself. "I needed to grow and open myself up as a person," she recalls. She set her sights on Diamond but knew she had to take it step by step, mastering each stage before moving forward.

Claudia's journey to Platinum was not rushed—it was intentional. She focused on developing herself, learning from her mentors, and preparing to guide others. She understood that to lead, she first had to equip herself with knowledge. "I have many consumers and business partners who rely on me, so I needed to be ready for them." She embraced the challenges that came with the business, knowing that every obstacle was an opportunity to learn and help others navigate their own paths.

A major influence in Claudia's growth has been her mentor, Royal Diamond Erica Reyna. Inspired by her leadership, Claudia took everything she learned and put it into action. "At first, we want success, but we don't always know how to get there or work for it. That's why finding your 'why' is so important." Having a clear purpose helped her set goals and take consistent steps toward her vision.

One of the biggest transformations in Claudia's journey was stepping into public speaking. Once a challenge, she now embraces the responsibility of inspiring others. At a recent event in Pomona, she chose to be introduced with the song Creo en Mí (I Believe in Myself) because it represents her journey. "Believing in yourself is everything," she says. Now, as she looks ahead to Diamond, Claudia remains focused on impact. For her, true leadership isn't just about rank—it's about helping others rise. She is committed to guiding her team, ensuring that no one walks this journey alone. "We don't just run toward success—we build a path for others to follow."
